DEACON ABANS IRRITATED. BY FRANK CLIVE.

So, Thomas, I see by yer bloody nose that you've been fighting You don't seem to care for good advice and admonition

Twas only this morning I talked an hour to show you tha fighting's a sin, And here you are with the nose-bleed, and scratched from

How many times must I tell ye how wicked it is to fight, Before you will cease to hunger for chances to goage and bite? Who was ye fighting with, this time? Jim Dye! Why you confounded calf!

Aln't you got any senses about ye ! He's bigger than you are Why I'm clean discouraged about ye? Such recklessness never will do. Jim is certainly two years older and weighs twenty pounds more than you! What's the matter with that 'ere floger ! Jim bit it! Wal, blame my etc hat ! And you didn't know any better than to fool 'round his meat-Yer bound to disgrace yer old father. I can see that plainer

Why, what d'ye mean? "You were tryin' to jerk Jimmy's check off," hey ! Did ever ye read of Isane Watts-in the books at the Sunday

A stickin' his fingers in a boy's mouth to get 'em bit, like a

Why didn't ye go for his ness the way I used to-Ahem ! "You couldn't because he had ye down?" Wal, you ar dreffut green Don't ye imagine that thumbs are make after some purpos

Wise ! And yet yo laid there on yer back and never thumbed Jim's It seems sometimes as if I must give you up in despair ?

Eh! What? "You pulled out three or four big handsful of his hair!" H'm ! Did he squirm ? Now if you'd jest have sent him one Behind the ear-but as I've told ye, many a time, twon't do.

For this fighting is poor business. Now for my sake won't ye And not come home again with bloody nose and blackened eye Nor worry yer purents by being struck, and gouged, and scratched, and kicked? H'm ! Thomas-how did it-that is-my son-ahem! Which

Eh? What! You licked Jim Dye! Sho now! Really? You Heked him? Wal, I wouldn't ha' thought you could do it to so hig a boy a

I don't believe John Calvin coul-thave got up and knocked the From a boy that out-hefted his twenty pound! Why that beats old John Knox! You can't think, Tom, how I hate to have you fight, every now and then :

I wouldn't have had Jim lick ye for five dollars-no not for Now, sonny, go into the house and wash, and let mother do up Where that scalawag chew'd your finger. And, Thomas don't fight any more !

" Just keeping it lighted for an other boy," is the latest juvenile invention when an American mother suddenly comes upon her little boy with a cigar in his menth.

There iz advice enuff now laying around loose to run three just such worlds az this-what we are suffering most for iz sum more good examples. -Josh Billings.

"Ma," said an intelligent, thoughtful boy, "I don't think Solomon was so rich as they say he was." "Why, my dear, what could have put that into your head?" "Why, the Bible says he slept with his fathers, and I think if he had been so very rich he would have had a bed of his own.' After leaving a Jefferson avenue street-car one day, a citizen ran and overtook it again, and as he entered he looked around on the floor and asked, "did any one see a letter in a mourning envelope?" all answered "no;" and he continued, " well, it's no great loss, though I'd like to be sure whether it said that my brother William or my uncle James was dead.

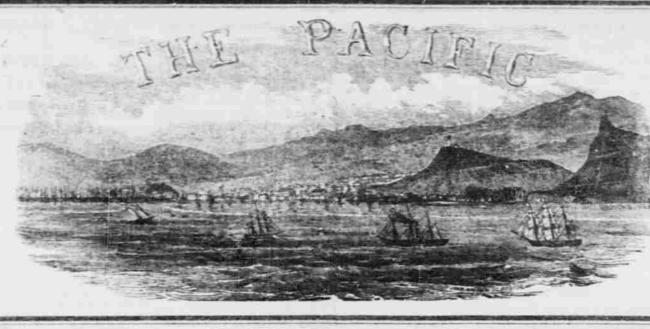

A very tall darkey entered the rooms of the Relief Society in Washington the other day, and inquired, "does you give out pervisions, heah?"
"Yes, we aid the poor here," replied the agent;
"what do you want most?" "Wall, my heart is sot on a spring chicken," replied the darkey, "but if de chickens is out, I'll take a can of isters and two pounds of butter. I isn't gwine to be capshus, cause it's hard times."

NEVER SATISFIED .- A gentleman traveling through one of the most picuresque portions of the White Mountain region saw a farmer at work, being of a sociable disposition, approached the man, expatiated on the beauty and majesty of the surrounding scenery, concluding with the remark, "I suppose, my friend, you enjoy this glorious view that people come so far to look at?" "Why, yes," was the response; "but if I'd had the sortin' of these hills I'd made 'em a little peakeder.

A PRESENT FIT FOR A QUEEN .- It is well known that crowned heads and people of that sort invariably take all they can get in the way of earthly goods. A knowledge of this fact lately moved a person in Fulton, N. Y., to prepare a half-barrel of the soft and enticing compound called apple butter, and to despatch the same, as per address, to "Her Majesty Queen Victoria, Buckingham Pslace, England." Such graceful and beautiful little attentions as this are what cement the bonds of humanity, and shed a soft light of tol-de-rol over the dreary pathway of existence.- New York 1. ibune.

WHAT DID HE MEAN ?-Old Mr. Throop, up on Eighth street, is as good as he is corpulent, and has a way of singing hymns in soft undertones as he goes along the street. Yesterday morning he was picking his way long the slippery grade down Division street, singing, as usual, and be just finished the line, " a charge to keep I have," when he felt a terrible concussion, and the air was full of hats, and spectacles, and red handkerchiefs, and arctic overshoes, and old Mr. Throop blended his hymn into "Dog gone the diddledy dad binged internal old trap to the gol dinged Pikes." And of all the people who helped him up and handed him his things, not one could tell what he meant by those remarksble phrases, and we don't believe he knew himself .- Burlington Hawkeye. A Scotch pedlur, without the remotest inten-tion on his part of getting into a quarrel or a fight with any man, had put up (with his pack) for the night at a country ale-house on the borders of Wales, where, as the fates would have it, he found in the kitchen of the inn a motly assemblage of not the most desirable companions, and among the rest a Welshman, whose aim from the very first seemed to be to get into hot water with poor Sawney. The latter, sagaciously appreciating the true character of his tormentor, and determined to get rid of him said that he "did not want to fight." This only excited to a still higher pitch the bravado of the Welshman, and he told the Scotchman that he would " make him fight." "Well," said Sawney, "if I must fight, let me say my prayers before I fight'-which the Welshman conceding, the Scotchman which the Welshman conceding, the Scotchman fell upon his knees and implored his Maker to 938 1y HONOLU pardon him for "the twa men he had already killed, and for one who was about to die." The Scotchman slowly rose from his knees, but not Scotchman slowly rose from his knees, but hot before the Weishman had made a precipitate log to a barrel. For Sale by
